A. J. Small Severs Tendon Duing Running for Undine Stakes.

Oakland, Cal., March 13 .- A. J. Small, the fast celt for which an offer of $15,000 was refused by P. T. Chinn, was cut down very badly during the running of the Undine stakes at Emeryville today. A tendon was severed and the racing career of the youngster is doubtless ended. He was insured for $10,000. A. J. Small and Ollie James represented the Chinn stable in the race. Carroll, a youngster sent from Arcadia, led most of the way and won cleverly from Copperton and Elfin Beau. Stanley Fay displayed improvement and won the Jerome handicap.

At Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 13.—Of the four which went to the post in the Norfolk handicap at Santa Anita park today the winner, Joseph K., was the only one to pull up sound. The Commoner geldto pull up sound. The Commoner gelding made a show of his field and won with his mouth wide open by a sixteenth of a mile from Big Bow, which in turn easily took care of Animus, the odds-on favorite. Crack Shot, the added starter, was beaten off. Big Bow and Animus alternated setting the early pace, the former running out at every turn, which perhaps cost him the race. The time for the four miles was 7:16 2-5.

Wyoming Elk in Bad Shape

A letter received from S. N. Leek of Jackson, Wyo., brings a gloomy picture of fate of thousands of elk in that section unless provision is made for the feeding of the animals.

Mr. Leek, who has perhaps taken more photographs of large wild game in the Rocky mountains than any man in the west, says he estimates that there are 25,000 elk in Jackson's Hole and around there. He predicts that unless some effort is made to feed them during March and April many of them will die of starvation and exposure. A band of 2,000 passed through his ranch a couple of days ago, within a short distance of his house. His wife sold a stack of hay to a neighbor, and the purchaser at once placed a man on watch to prevent the elk from eating it. Mr. Leek is not inclined to urge any changes in the game laws of the state, but he says that if hunters were given permission to kill two in a season instead of one, as now, it would tend to prevent their increase to alarming proportions. He says not to exceed 1,000 were killed last year lawfully, and that the natural increase s now, it would tell to prevent and last year lawfully, and that the natural increase mounted to from 25 to 33 per cent. The action of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks in declaring against elks' teeth as emblems has taken much of the incentive from the so-called tusk hunters, their killing having decreased greatly within the past year. Mr. Leek says he has photographed elk not more than ten feet away and that they feed among the cattle, becoming at times almost a nui-

HURST CALLS RUBE DOWN

Suggests That Waddell Try to Fool the Batters Instead of the Umpire.

Tim Hurst does his work just a little different from any other umpire. His uniform consists of a cap. He has a mask and a breast protector, but he rarely brings the latter to the grounds. if he does his fellow umpire blows it up and adjusts it on his own manly chest. If he is alone he works without the protector to save the trouble.

One never knows whether Tim is going to show up or not. He generally manages to arrive ten seconds before starting time, but sometimes fails to arrive until the second inning, in fact, Tim does things no other umpire would take chances on do-

One day President Johnson sent communications to his umpires asking them for suggestions that would help shorten the games. Of course all the umps wrote lengthy missives giving their opinions. Tim did likewise, but couldn't refrain from adding a postscript, that, if Mr. Johnson was really in earnest, he would not be a first the limit of the second course him try seven innings instead of One day President Johnson sent commu hlm try seven innings Instead of nine. One day last summer "Rube" Waddell one day last summer "Rube" Waddell was working a game at St. Louis against Philadelphia and was getting a good beating. "Rube" had made the Athletics look foolish the day before, and McAleer was trying to have the big southpaw repeat, but he was meeting with poor success. Of course, there is no team in the league "Rube" would prefer beating than the Athletics, and the way they were clouting his assortment of benders was making George Edward rather peevish. Naturally he was blaming Tim for a lot of his trouble, claiming that he was missing a lot of strikes, but Tim only smiled Finally, with two on the bases and two out, one of the Athletics hit for two bases, after "Rube" was sure he had him struck

"What's the matter, Tim?" bellowed Waddell in his loudest voice, "my curves ertainly must be decciving you."
"I'd advise you to try a little deception on the batters and let me alone." Tim. "From the number of base hits it appears as if I am the only guy you are fooling, unless it's McAleer for leaving you in the box.' 'Rube" was derricked on the next bat-

Local Rider Says Salt Lake Looks Defeats Salt Lake High in Match Game of Basket-

ball. The Salt Lake High school basketball team met its equal last night when it played Granite High school in the Granite stake amusement hall. The game was one of the fastest and most exciting seen this season, although the first half was unnecessarily rough and ended with a unnecessarily rough and ended with a score of 12 to 8 in favor of Granite. This was due to the local boys not being used to playing college ball, where there are no out of bounds. However, they rallied in the second half, and had it not been for an accident to Alonzo Romney, the star player for Salt Lake High, they undoubtedly would have come out victorious. Efforts Being Made to Gather Strong Aggregation to Compete at the Chicago Meet.

The University of Utah may be represented at the western conference in Chicago with one of the strongest track and field teams ever organized in the west. A plan to send this team to that meet has been devised by a prominent alumnus and has met with the hearty approval of several I' supporters, and they expect to put it before the athletic authorities of the school. If the proposed trip materializes, it will be one of the biggest boosts for the university and athletics in the west that has happened, The plan was prompted by a letter to Couch Maddock from "Howdy" Whitney, who holds the state record in the sprints, that he and Bill Swapp, who is also a state record holder, having the title in the broad jump, would soon be home from their mission. It is proposed to have them enter school, get McAllister, and Bill Hunt, who, with the present stars already enrolled at the school, would make perhaps the strongest track aggregation ever gotten together in the west. These men would not be eligible under the stringent rule of the U, but they would undoubtedly be allowed to compete in the conference if they entere school at once. The plan was prompted by a letter to

Representative Utah Team.

This would be a thoroughly representa-ive Utah team, as all of these men are tive Utah team, as all of these men are products of the university, all are amateurs, and, with the exception of McAllister, have received all their athletic instruction at the university and have competed for no other college. McAllister expects to enter the university next year, and the others have attended the school a number of years, so if they enter school at once it would be perfectly legitimate for them to compete for the university.

Versity.

A team composed of Swapp, Bill Hunt,
Whitney, McAllister, Morgan Adams,
Brinton, Henry Richardson, Dad Convill, Bailey and Judd ought to wrest the vill. Bailey and Judd ought to wrest the honors from any eastern college teams. With Brinton. McAllister and Whitney, all ten-second men. Utah would be practically invincible in the sprints and the quarter mile. Then, if Richardson were added to these three fleet-footed youngsters, the U would have a relay team that ought to win that event, and also cop a few eastern records. In the distance events the team would not be any too strong, but at the same time Bailey and Judd would be able to hold their own.

Would Be Well Balanced.

Would Be Well Balanced.

The strength of the team would lie greatly in its being so well balanced, and there is not an event which would not likely draw points. In the field the aggregation would be as strong as on track. Swapp. Hunt. McAllister, Brinton and Adams ought to be able to push the eastern men to the limit on the jumps. The athletes jump from twenty to twenty-two feet in the broad, and they go around a feet 10 inches in the high. Bill Hunt holds the state record on the high hundles, and Maddock thinks that Brinton will pull down a record in the other hundles. Strong on Weights.

Adams holds the state record for the pole vault at II feet 9 inches. The U would be well represented with the weights, as Convill, Richardson and Swapp are about the best weight men who have ever compared. three men enter the discus throw. This team has eight of the best all-around men that the state has produced, and if they were seen in operation in Chicago, it would establish a great reputation for the college.

The financial difficulty naturally would pay for itself. Stanford did this last year, and got third in the meet, and Utah defeated Stanford with a team about half as strong as this team would be. This team would also represent Utah in the games at Seattle, in which all the big schools of the coast and the northwest will enter. Successes in both of these would establish an athletic reputation for the university that might be envised by any college in the country.

SAME OLD QUESTION AT YALE

Battle Over Professional Baseball Coach May Be Fought

Yearly.

New Haven, Conn., March 12.—The question of professional baseball coaching is being bitterly fought, over again at Yale, and the selection of William Lush to direct the Eli nine for this It has been learned that Yale's policy has not been changed by Lush's at pointment, and that the university will ontinue to have the same shifting policy as for the past few years. Captain Fred Murphy appointed Lush as coach because he believed in professional coaching. His successor next fall may remove Lush and appoint a former Yale captain or player as head enemies of professional coaching, and it is universally agreed that if professional coaching is to be ordered he is the man to be named for the position:

If Yale should revert to professional coaching he would be given a contract for a term of years, but the Yale system allows each succeeding captain to be supreme in choosing his system of coaching, and for this reason the university baseball policy will swing an-nually back and forth from amateur to professional coaching at the will of the captain. Lush was engaged for only the present season, and if Captain Mur-phy's successor wishes graduate coach Lush will find an engagement
